THIRTY-FIFTH YEAR. NO. 3.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, AUGUST 30, 1912.

PRICE, $1.00 A YEAR

ARE YOU A MASON?

Philosophy of "Old Man Grump" brought down to date. Come! Join in the Anvil Chorus.

Are You a mason?
Why not be a mason?
Was Solomon a mason?
Are all masons on the square?

Hamilton is a city of many attractions, particularly for a mason. There are masons in Xenia, occasionally in Dayton and frequently in Hamilton.

Anyhow Dayton has a better post office than Xenia, that's why one mason gets his mail there.

When Xenia gets her new post office building it will not be necessary for a mason to patronize the Dayton post office.

Colored goggles for the Xenia mail clerks might bring about absolute secrecy as to where one mason's mail is post marked.

All masons are not ministers, neither are all ministers masons.

Some men prefer to be masons, others had carriers.

A song that would please the heart of any mason: "Oh! You Beautiful Doll."

A mason in good standing must belong to the union.

When masons go on a strike, then follows a union suit-by injunction.

All men that have hammers are not masons, but all masons have hammers.

Some masons are masons, some masons are not.

Some masons live with their families, some do not.

Some masons make good, other masons make excuses.

The self-made mason is often a bum mason.

A roast is as good as toast, even to a mason.

A mason's motto: "Better the lie than the truth that is a lie."

The mason on the out going Dayton and Xenia car probably lived in Hamilton. Oh! You mason!

If George Washington never told a lie he must have been a mason.

For 18 cent brass we can pick one mason.

If a mason's petticoats were run through the laundry of public sentiment, more than a change of politics would be discovered.

"On to Hamilton", a mason's retreat.

It was a stuffy night,
So we took a little walk;
North Detroit is all right
For an eleven o'clock talk.

—A mason.

THE POLITICAL POOL.

Did you ever stand at the edge of a pool and throw a stone into the water? If you have you evidently noticed by the splash just where the stone dropped.

Within the past few weeks the Herald has dropped several stones of exposure into the political pool in this county. Those who did not realize what we had done have discovered by the Greene County Tribune just where the stone dropped. The splash of the last issue evidently reflects that the stone landed just where we intended, so there was no on mislead.

The Tribune is fostered by certain politicians and office holders and of course has an axe to grind. It represents to the people through its weekly preaching of political righteousness one thing and through its political backstabbing another. The weekly sermon is but the certain shield the real intent of these politicians.

The last splash of the Tribune is nothing more than we have heard in years past of other machine politicians and the Tribune only reflects what the members of its political faction resent when the public has a tendency to disagree with the policy pursued. The Tribune's faction has assumed the same dictatorial policy with the people that the Shoup-Schmidt faction did and because some people would not approve of this kind of machine politics, the Tribune gets peeved. The Herald still maintains the slogan that "If you do not want it to happen, you had better not let it happen."

As a final analysis of the Tribune's position the Herald can truthfully say that not one cent did we contribute into the Toss constitutional corruption fund; neither did we have anything to do with soliciting money for this election boodle; neither did we have anything to do with the distribution of this money among known money changers on election day; neither did we have anything to do with making out the false election expense which was qualified to by Dr. Fess; neither were we asked, nor was one citizen who had nothing to do with the election, if the amount was large enough, neither did we take advice that $100 be added to be safe, neither did we have anything to do with jury fixing in a recent trial; neither did we have anything to do with an election officer that one of the Tribune's friends would openly fight him in the last primary; neither have we had a hand in remitting an ex-droghda's fine on condition that a brother be given an order for a car load of buggies; neither have we offered to purchase the vote of a colored political organization for a certain sum; neither have had anything to do with the promise of a deputyship in a county office to one colored citizen and the same position to another person in that the vote of a different religious people could be captured.

These are but a few of the things the Tribune and some of its factional friends are interested in and tends to show that the mouth-piece of these office-holders is somewhat artificial in changing its political colors.

It Would Have Been Glorious

One of the Republican candidates that endeavored to get on the Moose ticket in this county explained just what was the plan of the candidates had they been successful with their petitions.

According to this candidate it was the plan to give themselves opposition until after the expiration of the time for making nominations or filing petitions and then all proposed to withdraw leaving the Moose ticket without a county ticket.

Recent developments from state headquarters have forestalled all efforts of the candidates being on more than one ticket. It is intimated that each candidate would have been called before the board of elections and been given the opportunity of deciding which of the two tickets he desired to remain on.

It is also claimed by state authorities that Republican nominees going on the Moose ticket by petition had removed themselves from the former party and the board of elections could refuse to place their names on the Republican ticket.

Editor Gets Thank-You Job.

Probably there is no profession where there is as little pay for what is done as with an editor. But then there is always some satisfaction as well as pleasure in work that one is not always recompensed for.

We are in receipt of a notice from the County Election Board informing us of our appointment as official challenger in the corporation for the special election to be held next Tuesday.

The dope handed out by the Xenia Republican is correct, and there is no reason to doubt this journal's word, for it is the official apologist, defender and mouth-piece of the holier-than-thou crowd that recently placed "John Bum" on the Board of Elections. We learn that our appointment as challenger, a thank-you job, is due to the efforts of our friend, "Bum". Many thanks "John", sorry you do not vote in Cedarville corporation where we might exercise our official prerogative.

Dayton Fair Next Week.

The Montgomery County Fair will be held next week. The races for this fair promise to be unusually attractive this season as good purses are offered. The displays and various other attractions will interest many people.

Local Exhibitors Take Premiums.

Greene county is well represented at the State Fair this week and the usual prizes were captured. R. D. Williamson, with his American Merinos, W. J. Cherry with his Hampshires, J. C. Williamson with his Oxfords, Huston Cherry with his Dorsets, Wm. Watt with his South Down sheep all were winners of various ribbons.

In the same department, the Xenia team, owned by Mr. S. T. Baker took a first, a second, a championship and grand champion with his Berkshire boar. It is said that Mr. Baker disposed of his hog at the show for the handsome price of $300. Hutchinson and Ferguson had their Polled Angus herd and received their share of the winnings.

Electrical Storm Wednesday Night.

Probably the worst electrical storm since the May flood in 1880 took place Wednesday night, accompanied by heavy rain and wind. While this section suffered no particular damage yet barns are reported as having burned near Osborn, Springfield, New Carlisle and Fairfield. The railroad south of Xenia was flooded so that trains had to be transferred. At Lebanon there was a cloud burst and three bridges were washed away and much damage done about the village. Other towns in that section also suffered by water and lightning.

College Notes.

Prof. Edward Mack, D. D., of Lane Theological Seminary, Cincinnati, O. will deliver the opening address, Wednesday, September 11, in the chapel of College Hall at 7:30 a. m. The exercises will be interspersed with music. The classes will be organized and recitations will begin the following day at 7 a. m.

After a two weeks' thorough canvass in the county, the results show that there will be a large class of new students from our own county and a goodly number from a distance. Nearly all of last year's students will return. On account of Mrs. Russell's return, her discourses promise to be larger than they have been for years. Miss Ankeney reports that her classes in Art will enroll a number of new students.

Books may be bought or rented new or second hand at the book exchange at the College Hall. The tuition payable in advance is only $18 a semester. That is considerably lower than it is at most other colleges.

A department in Domestic Science will be organized under the direction of the Greene County Y. W. C. A. One or two sessions a week will be given in the afternoon in the Southwest basement of the College Hall. Miss Grace Morton, who graduated from the Thomas School of Domestic Science in Detroit, Michigan this spring is to have charge.

The new apparatus for physics is coming in and will be set up in the North basement of Carnegie Hall, where the physics laboratory work both in the preparatory and collegiate classes will be conducted this year in the afternoon. A large supply of new material for chemistry has just been received.

Mr. Ream Shroyer, of the class of '12 has received the position as principal of the High School in Paw Paw, Ill., paying a good salary. Miss Grace Beckwith will be principal of Centerville schools in Ill. at a salary of $80 a month. Mr. Arthur Dean, who was graduated to Harvard, Phila. and is efficient helper at the Greene County Teachers' business meeting. Mr. Hartman's daughter, Mary, is attending the Teachers' Seminary in September. Mr. Me. Gaffie will be superintendent of the Washington, Pa. schools this year, and the year following he hopes to enter a theological seminary. Miss Murray will enter a mission school in Philadelphia to prepare for work on the Foreign Mission field in India. Miss Ramsey will continue her music course and take her A. M. degree this year. Mr. Hugh Turnbull has a new position in view and will decide in a few days whether he will accept. This class of 1912 is taking up life's work. Their work in Cedarville College is already bringing profit to them.

Invitations have been received here by friends and relatives announcing the marriage of Mr. Geo. Jackson Rogers of Wheeling to Miss Clara Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Mr. Will Mc Daniels, who was injured at the paper mill several months ago, went to the St. Elizabeth Hospital in Dayton, Tuesday, for treatment.

Miss Fannie Tomkinson, who recently went to Dayton, Montana, has resigned her position as teacher in district No. 6. The board will meet Friday to make another selection. Miss Tomkinson will spend the winter with her brother, Roy, and teach in the schools at that place.

Farmers Oppose the Amendments

A meeting of the farmers about Clifton was held in the opera house last Friday night for a discussion of the proposed amendments. Mr. Charles Hatfield presided. Judging from the discussion the majority of those present will oppose every amendment, unless that of woman's suffrage, and some did not favor this other than the effect it would have on moral issues.

THE GOSPEL OF THE SUGAR BEET

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley Preaches It to Farmers.

A WONDERFUL TRANSFORMER.

"Wherever the Sugar Beet is Cultivated," Dr. Wiley declares, "the Farmers Are All Prosperous"—America Fully Fifty Years Behind Europe in Agriculture.

"Farming practices in vogue upon a great majority of the cultivated tracts in America are obsolete," declares Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former chief chemist of the department of agriculture. "In agriculture we are fully fifty years behind Europe, and the better utilization of our farm resources is one of the most important problems before the country."

Agricultural scientists engaged in government work agree that this is a moderate statement of a condition that they recognize as one of menacing proportions. It is based on cold facts, for, while politicians of a certain class are wont to refer to the United States as "the granary of the world," statistics show that so far from "feeding the starving hordes of Europe" this country is rapidly being outdistanced in agricultural production by the supposedly effete nations of the older continent. Not only is it true that the farm output of the United States has failed to keep pace with the growth in population, but it is equally the case also that as compared with the countries of Europe we are losing ground steadily as an agricultural nation. This is the situation that the former chief chemist ist, speaking, as he points out, as a practical farmer, believes should be brought forcibly before the people of the country.

In the popular mind Dr. Wiley has become so closely identified with the pure food laws that the public is accustomed to think of him merely as a sort of superior chemical policeman who has been guarding the general health by preventing unscrupulous persons from selling such things as stale pickles, or pickled apple skins and cotton seeds labeled currant jelly, or a mixture of sugar, water, opium and alcohol as a cure-all and general regenerator of mankind. But his proudest laurels have been won as an agricultural scientist, and for over forty years he has devoted his life to a study of these two allied subjects of encouraging agricultural development and protecting the public health.

Since his retirement from the government service Dr. Wiley likes to describe himself as a farmer. He gives as much as possible of his time and attention to his own farm in Loudon county, Va. In addition, he maintains an office in Washington which is the headquarters of his activities as consulting editor, lecturer and pure food expert. He is one of the busiest men in Washington. His multifarious activities leave him little time to submit to interviews, but he is willing always to talk about his hobby, scientific agricultural production.

"Old-fashioned, slipshod methods of producing wheat and cotton and corn are still in vogue in over 95 per cent of the country devoted to these industries," said Dr. Wiley, continuing his impeachment of our lax farming methods. "The growing of these crops until within a few years could not have been ranked as agriculture, but should have been described as highway robbery of the soil. As a result the average production per acre of these crops has fallen to a minimum."

"Farming, for one thing, must be made more attractive. It should be made more profitable. This will be done as our farmers learn more thoroughly the principles of intensive cultivation and get a knowledge of the methods of feeding the soil and of the rotation of crops."

"To this end I have been preaching for the past thirty years the gospel of the sugar beet."

I. & R. IS WORKING NOW IN OREGON

IT IS CHEAPER TO LEARN THE RESULTS FROM THE EXPERIENCE OF OTHERS.

THE CHICAGO INTER-OCEAN

Investigator Tells of Petition Industry—Nullifies United States Constitution—You Can't Corrupt All the People, But You Can Baffle and Deceive Them.

Oregon, with its initiative, referendum and recall and its successful device for nullifying the constitution of the United States with respect to the election of senators, is continually held up before us by the "Progressive" prophets as a "model state," where the people do really "rule."

In Oregon, we are told, it is not possible for "sordid interests" to defeat the will of the people in legislation, nor for "hide-bound" courts to thwart their laudable desires for "social betterment." There is the recall for judges; there is the initiative with which to get "good" legislation; there is the referendum to stop "bad" legislation.

Oregon has all the panaceas in full bloom and vigor. Yet a record before us shows how with all these panaceas the apathy of one petty community has held up the will of the people of Oregon for a year, has crippled their State university and has put the state to the expense of a general election in order to be able to do for the State university what an overwhelming majority of the people undoubtedly approve. The underlying facts are briefly as follows:

Eugene is the county seat of Lane county. The inhabitants of Cottage Grove desired for their town the benefits of being a county seat. So they proposed to divide Lane county, that their town might be the capital of the new county to be thus created. At an election held on the question the proposal for division was defeated.

The Cottage Grovers, perhaps correctly attributed the blighting of their hopes to the Eugeneans. They set about to get revenge. They found in the great and admirable Oregon referendum law an instrument made ready to their hands. Eugene is also the seat of the State university, an institution confessed on all hands to be doing excellent work, but sadly in need of increased accommodations for the young people of the state.

So the Cottage Grovers demanded a referendum on the legislature's appropriations for the support and enlargement of the university. As the proposal did not seem particularly popular they went up to Portland and hired a person named Parkinson to get signatures to their referendum petition, at 35 cents each. Mr. Parkinson is an Oregon uplifter who has organized a new industry—that of getting signatures for petitions.

Parkinson got the signatures. He got 15,000, though only $335 were required. Parkinson's agents got over 6,000 signatures by the easy method of manufacturing them. That has been proved in open court. Over 5,000 of the remaining 7,000 were not put on the petition as the law requires.

The law prescribes the form of the petition. Each sheet must contain a full and correct copy of the measure on which the referendum is demanded. There must not be more than 20 signatures on a sheet. The plain intent of the law is that the voter shall sign right under his eye, when signing, what he is signing.

Over 5,000 names secured by Parkinson for the Cottage Grovers had apparently been written on blank sheets which were afterwards gathered together and attached to a copy of the act. Yet the supreme court of Oregon—having the fear of the recall before its eyes—has declared this a valid petition, on which the university appropriations must be held up until an election can be held and the people pass on the question. However, let us note that Mr. Justice Eakin dissented vigorously from this conclusion.

Yet as the law of Oregon now stands the industry of collecting signatures in support of any sort of an initiative, referendum or recall petition has apparently the sanction of the state's highest court. And the Oregon case shows what an illusion is the saying that "you can't corrupt the whole people." You can corrupt them, but you can baffle, confuse and deceive them and obstruct all government by the methods of "direct" legislation.

For a year the people of Oregon are not ruling with respect to their State university. The malice of the Cottage Grovers and the promotion of it by Parkinson and his agents are ruling. And this in Oregon, the "model commonwealth." Queer, isn't it, how these devices for getting "good government" automatically work when put on trial?—The Inter-Ocean.

CUNNING SCHEME IS AN AFFRONT

OUTSPOKEN EXPRESSION OF AN ABLE JURIST ON CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

JUDGE WICKHAM OF NORWALK

Preposterous to Expect Mass of Voters to Gain Intelligence on Forty-two Amendments in Five Weeks—Bigelow's Cunning Scheme to Fool and Deceive.

Norwalk, O., Aug. 27.—(Special.)—"An affront to the people of the state and a cunningly devised scheme to deceive and delude the voters."

Judge C. F. Wickham of this city did not mince words in condemning the most of the proposed constitutional amendments which will be submitted to the voters at the special election on September 3rd. Those exceptions were the woman suffrage amendment and those providing for the appointment of superintendents of public instruction and public works. The others he characterized as either vicious, or unnecessary because already provided for in the present constitution or by laws passed in pursuance thereof.

It is refreshing in these days of political unrest to hear from one whose motives cannot be questioned and who has no personal ambition to attain and no personal interest to serve other than the welfare of the whole people to serve.

After a long and honorable public career, both in war and peace, during which he has given the public the benefit of his abilities and patriotic service, Judge Wickham is voluntarily retiring to a richly deserved rest. For these reasons his views will have weight with all thinking men. He served several terms in congress and many years on the bench, and he speaks from the standpoint of one who has given a lifelong study to constitutional and other questions.

In discussing the proposed constitutional amendments, Judge Wickham said:

"In the first place, it is preposterous to expect the great mass of voters in Ohio to study the 42 proposed constitutional amendments and vote intelligently or intelligently when only five weeks' time is given for such study."

"Mr. Bigelow and his associates who controlled the convention were evidently afraid to submit their Socialistic and revolutionary proposals to an aroused and enlightened public sentiment. For that reason they provided for the submission of the many questions at an early special election. If they had confidence in the intelligence of the people, why did they not submit the proposals at the general election in November, when all the voters would participate? Their answer is that the people would be confused if the discussion on the amendments should be carried into a regular campaign. Do they distrust the intelligence of the voters? The real reason for their action was that they were afraid that the election were not held for six months or later, the voters would have time to study the many proposals and vote them down. That is the only reasonable explanation for their apparent desire to submit the questions as quickly as possible, and thus permit a small, but organized minority of the people to write Socialism and confusion into the organic law.

"Not being satisfied with calling for a special election on the questions at an early date, Mr. Bigelow and his associates also concocted a cunning scheme to further fool and delude the voters. They prepared a pamphlet containing the proposed amendments and under each proposal they printed an alleged explanation which, in many cases, not only does not explain, but seeks to actually deceive. Only the titles of the amendments will appear on the ballot, so those titles were so worded as to attract the votes of those who had not had the opportunity to study each amendment. All of this would be had enough if Bigelow and his associates had gone into their own pockets to pay for the printing of deceptive and misleading literature, but instead of that they are dipping into the state treasury to pay for their campaign literature. Think of the imposition of it! Compelling me and every other taxpayer in Ohio to pay for the publication of arguments in behalf of constitutional amendments to many of which we are absolutely opposed.

"Again," he said, "many of the proposed amendments are legislation pure and simple and not basic propositions such only as should find their way into a constitution; and some of them are wholly unnecessary, as the ends they seek are now fully attainable under the present constitution.

"With the exception of the woman suffrage amendment and those providing for the appointment of superintendents of public instruction and of public works, the amendments proposed are an affront to the people of the state and a cunningly devised scheme to deceive and delude the voters.

"It seems to me that the only safe way for the average voter, who has not had time in the midst of the cares of his occupation, to study and understand the far-reaching effect of the amendments, is to vote 'No' upon all of them, the meaning of which is not clear and satisfactory to him. When in doubt, vote them down."

THE WAGE WORKERS AND EQUAL SUFFRAGE

Massachusetts has just passed a 54-hour-week law for women after 40 years of agitation by "indirect influence" to improve working conditions. Utah, in 1911, passed a nine-hour law after less than two years of effort by its advocates. That is, women with the votes got the law from the first legislature from which they asked it. Women without votes asked for 40 years without getting it.

Of the six equal suffrage states, three have passed eight-hour laws for women and one a nine-hour law. Of the non-suffrage states, not one has an eight-hour law for women, and only five have nine-hour laws. The legislature in most of the suffrage states have shown much greater readiness to protect women from overwork than have the legislatures in most of the non-suffrage states.

Julia Ward Howe sent a circular letter to all the editors and ministers of four denominations in the then four suffrage states, asking what, if any, benefits had resulted from woman's ballot. Out of 624 answers only 62 were unfavorable. Among the benefits most often cited was that equal suffrage had made it easier to get liberal appropriations for education.

Working women believe that they will have a more equal chance in the industrial struggle when they have the protection of the vote. The trades unions of America and Great Britain are in the front rank of suffragists. Organized labor believes it will be far stronger when women vote than it is now. It believes in raising the status of women's wages and working conditions as the necessary preliminary to any general advance in working conditions for men.

Industries which depend on child labor are sold against woman suffrage.

MILLIONAIRE SANDWICH WOMAN

Mrs. Stanley McCormick, of the International Harvester Company family, acted as sandwich woman in Cincinnati to advertise a suffrage meeting gotten up by the Men's League. Mrs. McCormick was a Chicago woman before her marriage, and now lives in Boston. She is a member of the board of officers of the National Woman Suffrage Association.

HEADQUARTERS IN TENT

THE Lima suffrage headquarters are in a donated tent on a vacant lot, the use of which has been donated. The tent is large enough to seat 200 people, and somebody donated 200 chairs. Crowds flock to the tent daily for it is pitched in the center of the city.

WHY OHIO NEEDS EQUAL SUFFRAGE

Many Laws That Do Injustice to Women of the State.

The only elective office a woman can hold in Ohio is member of the board of education; it carries no salary. The state school commissioner cannot be a woman.

A woman cannot be on the board of control of any state charitable institution. A recent law giving permission to appoint a woman superintendent of the Ohio Industrial Institution is in conflict with the constitution and former decisions of the supreme court.

The law limiting woman's work to 54 hours per week excepts canning industries and others engaged in preparation of perishable goods and contains no provision for department stores, laundries and some other industries.

The age of consent in Ohio is 18 years. In equal suffrage states it runs from 18 to 21 years.

Women have school suffrage only. Wife desertion is not a crime in Ohio. The wife is not entitled to a voice in the choice of a family home. The law does not secure the wife any portion of the family income free from the husband's dictation. A wife's separate property can be levied upon for family necessities ordered by her if not paid for by her husband, and she can not secure a repayment. A husband holds power over her in a wife's separate property. Unless he signs a release this interest holds good after she has sold her property.

In Ohio the father inherits property of deceased children; the mother becomes heir only if the father is dead.

The wife has no share in the children's earnings if the husband is living. A wife is responsible for the support of the family if the husband is unable to render support.

The wife is not co-guardian of the children and the husband legally controls the choice of school, clothing, medicine and work.

The father may legally appoint by will the guardian for his unborn child. It looks as if Ohio needs woman's suffrage.

Vote for Amendment 23 on Sept. 8.

MRS. CATT IN FAR EAST

See Women of Asia Vote and Says It's Time For America to Wake Up.

One of the most remarkable world journeys ever made is that of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance. Mrs. Catt started from New York a year ago last April and is now in the Philippines on her way home. She will have held 1,000 suffrage meetings and traveled 30,000 miles by the time she gets around to San Francisco.

In a recent letter to Harriet Taylor Tipton, president of the State Suffrage Association, Mrs. Catt deplores her absence from Ohio during the suffrage campaign, and expresses the fervent hope "the miracle may come to pass, and Ohio join the states of the free."

She writes further: "When I see Mrs. Sammedin, Confucian, Buddhist, Hindu and Parsee women actually voting in municipal elections in this old Asia, I think it is about time that democratic America waked up to the situation. About the time you take your vote, I shall be interviewing the voters of the Chinese republic, and especially the women members of parliament. I certainly never dreamed that Chinese men would outdo the men of Ohio in recognizing the social value of the opinion of their wives."

HOW ARE WOMEN TO LEARN?

Look as if Some Other Folks Besides Women Don't Know It All.

Some people think women don't know enough about politics to vote. The other day Mrs. Wolfe of Cleveland, in canvassing Ward Seventeen asked a policeman, a fireman, the proprietors of a dry goods store, a grocery store, a drug store and several other men where precinct O was located. None of them knew. Another woman living in Columbus asked five business men of the city who the secretary of state was, and they could not tell her. The press chairman of the suffrage association wrote to the Census Bureau and the Department of Labor in Washington, asking the number of men, women and children in industry in the state of Ohio. Both departments wrote that they did not know, as the census reports dealing with those figures collected in the year 1910, owing to the lack of funds, had not yet been published. This last report previous to 1910 in the volume in which she was interested was out of print. It sort of looks as if some other folks besides women "didn't know every thing down in Judea."

The Whole World Is to Participate In the Great San Francisco Panama-Pacific Exposition In 1915

By HAMILTON M. WRIGHT.

THE whole world is interested in the opening of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, to be held in San Francisco in 1915.

The proclamation of the president, issued by authority of congress, has been delivered through the instrumentality of the department of state to every quarter of the globe. Inquiries as to the exposition are pouring in upon the exposition management from all parts of the world. The nations of the world in recognition of America's great day are: Mexico, McMillan, Mead & White of New York, designers of Madison Square Garden, the Boston Public Library, the Agricultural building at the World's Columbian Exposition, Thomas Hastings, president of Carrere & Hastings, architects in chief for the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo; Henry Bacon, designer of the Lincoln Memorial; Willis Poll, associated with D. H. Burnham of the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago. These architects and their associates pronounce the site of the exposition unsurpassed for a great maritime celebration. The exposition structures will be the largest and costliest ever erected for a world's exposition.

THE NEW SAN FRANCISCO, LOOKING OVER THE CITY TO THE HARBOR, SCENE OF THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION IN 1915.

achievement at Panama are preparing for participation in the exposition upon a more comprehensive scale than at any of the greatest of former world's expositions.

The foreign nations will be represented by the finest assemblage of displays that the world has seen. The strange tribes and peoples of Pacific Ocean countries will participate in a wonderful week's festival in which the nations of the orient will take part. The most marvelous parades ever witnessed will be seen on the streets of San Francisco.

The commonwealths of the United States, each of which as a member of the Union has taken its part in the building of the canal, will be represented by the most magnificent state displays ever assembled. California has dedicated more than $200,000 to the nation's fair, and the city of San Francisco, the west and the nation are co-operating to render the exposition one that will express in every way the pride and patriotism of the American people.

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be the greatest exposition in the history of the world. A notable commission of architects of national reputation is engaged upon the plans, and within a few weeks first construction work will begin, when grading of the site and the building of a sea wall, which will serve in part as the basis of a magnificent esplanade along San Francisco harbor, commences.

Among the noted architects who are designing the wonder city which will rise from the shores of San Francisco and will be visible in detail to passengers on ships entering the Golden Gate. The site of the exposition takes every advantage of the combination of harbor and hills that give San Francisco its chief charm. The main features of the exposition will be located at Harbor View, on San Francisco Bay, midway between the ferry building and the Golden Gate, and the permanent buildings to remain after the exposition is over will be erected in the west end of Golden Gate park, which fronts on the Pacific Ocean. These sites and intermediate locations will be connected by a trolley boulevard that sweeps from Harbor View through the Presidio to the Golden Gate and then turns south to Golden Gate park. A trackless trolley will take visitors over this magnificent scenic boulevard from Harbor View through the military reservation at the Presidio, where the government is planning a wonderful military display, to Golden Gate park, and one admission will include entrance to both features. The site expresses the maritime character of the great celebration. In harmony with the exposition San Francisco itself will be an exposition city in 1915. The park and water front of the city will be improved at an expenditure of millions of dollars, and the ferry building, the main entrance to San Francisco, will be adorned with a grand court of honor. Market street and Fish Wharf avenue, the two main thoroughfares of San Francisco, each running from the bay and meeting in V in the heart of the city, will be decorated with days. Great pageants in which the choral societies of foreign countries participate will be held upon the exposition grounds.

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition will open with a pageant in San Francisco harbor of the battle ships of the navies of the world. The foreign vessels will first assemble at Hampton Roads, where, joined by ships of the American navy, the entire fleet will be reviewed by the president of the United States and foreign dignitaries. This fleet, the largest ever assembled, will then proceed through the Panama canal to the harbor at San Francisco, where it will participate in the most spectacular naval demonstration ever witnessed. San Francisco in 1915 will see the flags of more nations than have ever been brought together in one place at any one time. From unofficial assurances now received it is anticipated that 100 foreign battleships in addition to those of the United States navy will be gathered in San Francisco harbor.

A huge commemorative edifice, in purport the Bartholdi's statue of Liberty, will welcome vessels from afar. The structure, to be known as the St. Francis Memorial tower, will be 330 feet in height, with a base 220 feet square. The shaft will be eighty-five feet square, with corners rounded, and of steel construction and terra cotta veneering. The estimated cost of the tower will be $1,000,000. From its summit the sightseer will look almost straight down upon the waters of the Golden Gate, 1,300 feet below.

Veterinary Pointers

By Dr. DAVID ROBERTS,

Waukesha, Wis.

Thoroughly examine your sick stock by taking the pulse, which should be from 28 to 40. Take their temperature which designates fever by the use of a Veterinary Fever Thermometer.

The live stock owners of the United States would be several million dollars wealthier if they gave their live stock proper care and attention, such as lies within the power of every live stock owner on earth, in the form of Dr. David Roberts' Veterinary prescriptions.

Do not experiment, or permit others to do so, on your live stock when they are ailing, for the prescriptions of Dr. David Roberts have been placed within reach of every live stock owner on earth.

The season of Hog Cholera is on and an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Indigestion is one of the great evils of this disease and should be prevented and overcome by the use of Dr. David Roberts' Hog Tonic internally, and pens should be thoroughly disinfected with Dr. David Roberts' Disinfectant.

Abortion in cows can be positively wiped out of any herd on the face of the earth by the use of Dr. David Roberts' Veterinary prescriptions.

Damp, cold, rainy seasons, such as fall, often produce inflamed or caked udders in cows. This can be overcome by the use of Dr. David Roberts' Cow Tonic and Badger Balm.

Do not waste your time and energy in trying to make a milker out of a beef animal, or a beef animal out of a heavy milker, as the law of nature will not permit it.

In operating upon lambs, pigs and calves, always use freely Dr. David Roberts' Healing Oil.

Precaution against death of cattle by blood should be guarded by keeping on hand one of Dr. David Roberts' Cattle Trocars.

Cattle that have broken into cornfields, and have overcast, should be kept from drinking water for twenty-four hours and be given small doses of Dr. David Roberts' Laxative Dose on the tongue.

"MILCH COWS"

If the point of the teat be stopped up, making milking a difficulty, use Dr. David Roberts' Hard Milking Ointment.

Remember that you are not keeping live stock to look at or for pets. They should either be profitable or be killed. Very often non-profitable animals can be made profitable by adding to their feed such ingredients as will aid digestion, and is contained in the Dr. David Roberts' Stock Vigor, mixed with linseed meal.

The proper time to dehorn cattle is when they are calves a few weeks old by the use of Dr. David Roberts' Horn Killer.

If an animal in a herd be afflicted with hump jaw, it should either be treated or killed, as it is exceedingly dangerous to the balance of the herd. Dr. David Roberts' Absorbent will overcome hump jaw in cattle.

Thoroughly disinfect your cow barns once a week, this will prevent and overcome many diseases that cattle are heir to. Use Dr. David Roberts' Disinfectant.

If you want your hogs to fatten quickly and economically, give them Dr. David Roberts' Hog Tonic. This will rid them of worms, prevent indigestion and many other dangerous diseases too numerous to mention.

Sell your cream for a good big sum, use part of the check by paying a pail of Dr. David Roberts' Calf Meal, a substitute for whole milk for calves.

Anyone wishing specific directions in the treatment of live stock ailments should feel free to write Dr. Roberts. Inquiries will be cheerfully answered.

We carry in stock all of Dr. David Roberts' prepared prescriptions. They are the "Best by Test!"

The continued wet weather has had a bad effect on the water-melon crop in this section. The patches of John Marshall, O. C. Welmer and others are almost total failures. Whereas an all-wise Providence has seen fit to visit us with his loving hand of affliction and remove from earthly life Arthur McKinney and

Whereas this affectionately devoted son has been a light in his home, prayerful, ever obedient and helpful to his parents; a loyal and constant attendant at Sabbath school for eight years; a diligent and brilliant pupil in the public school and

Whereas manhood has lost a very promising and valuable recruit in the next death of this young man, therefore be it resolved:

First—That Mr. and Mrs. McKinney have lost a loving son, in whom they could well be assured of loyalty and support in their dearest and declining years.

Second—That the Sabbath School a most faithful and Bible-loving member, consequently the future church a strong adherent. The day-school a vigorously studious pupil and promising scholar, consequently the state a capable and efficient citizen.

Third—That we are thoroughly convinced of the uncertainty of life and the certainty of death and the overruling hand of Providence in the affairs of men, being forcibly reminded of the supreme importance of the fact, "Be ye ready, for ye know not the day nor the hour, wherein the Son of Man cometh."

Fourth—That a copy of these resolutions be tenderly submitted to the parents, a copy be carefully spread on the Sabbath school minutes and a copy be provided for the press.

Victor Kramer, a noted music publisher from Chicago, leaving retired from business, is visiting the southwest for the purpose of establishing a colony of artists by the western sea. She Wanted to Know. An inexperienced colored girl had just been installed as housemaid. Having eyed a patent bottle with much curiosity for some time she asked her mistress: "And what sort o' thing is dat, ma'am?" "That," replied madam, "is a bottle that will keep things hot or cold." "Land sakes, honey!" exclaimed the astonished darky, "how is it gwine to know whether you want it to keep things hot or cold?"—Ladies' Home Journal.
